

Dear FOHO Members,

With a vision in mind and goals to meet, board members Larry Osborne, Phil and Karyn Beemer, along with Russ Cole and Jim Donnelson met last week in Haiti to survey the new property and develop a master site plan. We are very excited to share with you what was accomplished and how a visionary plan is being established and beginning to progress steadily. With the help of Andy Ripp (MSAADA Architects), Pastor Mark Olson of Bonswa Haiti (a non-profit organization that is building a community for people displaced by the earthquake), Les Ledbetter (Ledbetter Homes), and Vic Cox (former excavating contractor), we have been able to establish a site plan and prioritized project list to be able to fully utilize the teams scheduled for the first part of 2016.

When the original guesthouse facility was being built 40 years ago, it was connected to the existing Free Methodist Mission and had housing, water, electric, shop facility, etc already available. Guesthouse construction progressed as time permitted between church-building and other mission-led projects. On the other hand, starting this project from a bare piece of land requires a security wall and whole site infrastructure plan to be implemented before a guesthouse or other major structure is started. So the following projects are prioritized for early completion: secure the perimeter with a security wall, complete the caretaker's house, construct a multipurpose pavilion, build the shop and generator buildings, and install a well.

As with any piece of property in Haiti, securing the perimeter of the land with a wall must be first priority. However, this enormous task can be broken down into sections. Each 10' section costs approximately $540 dollars to build and we have about 170 sections yet to complete. We would like to challenge individuals, families and/or churches to sponsor a section. This essential part of the project is required to provide a safe and secure place to worship, work and live. If you have it placed on your heart to help complete this project, we would greatly appreciate your partnering with us. That is only $90 per month over six months or $45 per month for one year. Please consider FOHO's needs as the New Year begins.

Thank you for your interest and heart for the people of Haiti.
